THE FRISBIE FAMILY IN ILLINOIS

Many persons of the Frisbie name have lived in Illinois, and most of them are descendants of Edward Frisbie of Branford, Connecticut, one of the earliest settlers in New England.

Edward is thought to have been the son of Richard and Margaret (Emerson) Frisby of London, born in Virginia Colony about 1621, although no proof of his birth or parentage has been found. He was presumably amongst the band of settlers who moved in 1644 from Wethersfield, in Connecticut Colony, to Branford in New Haven Colony, but his name does not appear in the Branford records until December 1646.

He married -- the date of his marriage and his wife's name are not known -- and had eight sons and three daughters, all born in Branford. One son died in infancy, one son did not marry, and one son married but had no children; from the remaining five sons are descended most persons of the Frisbie name now living in the United States. The name, consistently spelled Frisby in the English records, developed in America into the variant spellings of Frisbie, Frisbee, Frisbey and Frisbe. Frisbie is now the most common spelling.

There are over 5,000 persons and thirteen generations of Edward's descendants in the family genealogical records; only recently a representative of the fourteenth generation was born in California, but she is a descendant in the female line and does not bear the Frisbie name.

In addition, there are some 2,500 persons in the family's Unclassified Records (those Frisbies whose relationship to Edward of Branford is unknown), and about 400 Later Comers (Frisbies who came to America at the time of the Revolutionary War or later and whose relationship to Edward is problematical).

Edward lived out his life in Branford and became a man of consequence in the community. In 1685 he built a fine new house on the outskirts of the village which is still in existence and in a fine state of preservation. He died in Branford in 1690.

His sons and grandsons lived after him in Branford, but by the 1730's they had begun to move into western Connecticut, Vermont and eastern New York, thus beginning the pattern of emigration which in successive generations drew Frisbies into frontier communities clear across the nation.

As the lands west of the Alleghenies were opened up after the Revolutionary War, Frisbie families left their comfortable homes in the East and migrated to raw frontier villages where, invariably, they took a leading role in the development of the community. The lands in Illinois were opened to settlement in the early 1830's, and the first Frisbie family to move there was probably that of Lyman Frisbie #738. Born in Branford in 1794, he was the sixth generation from the patriarch Edward Frisbie. In 1837 he moved with his wife and six children to the prairie lands of Illinois and established a home in Mendon which remained in family hands for another three generations. One of the family treasures of his great-grandson Clifton C. Frisbie of Chicago is Lyman's own record of the journey from Connecticut to Illinois.

Many Frisbie families remained in Illinois, and their descendants are to be found there today; others moved on into Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri and, later, into Nebraska.

The present study includes all Frisbies of all spellings who are known to have been born in, lived in, or died in Illinois. Much of the information does not appear in the Frisbie Genealogies. It was assembled, often piecemeal, by a number of devoted family researchers, and my debt to them is great.

In tabulating the data in the study I have used the family numbers which identify the various individuals in the genealogical records of the Frisbie-Frisbee Family Association. Known descendants of Edward of Branford are identified by 1-, 2-, 3- and 4-digit numbers running from 1 into 9000; Edward is #1 in the record, and the 9000 series identifies Frisbies of the thirteenth generation. Descendants of Edward in the female line are identified by a two-part number such as 1-1051, the "1" indicating that the individual is one generation removed from the Frisbie name, and the "1051" being his own personal number. At the right of the entry for each individual is a reference number indicating his line of descent; in the case of Lyman Frisbie #738, for example, this number is (6)IX-296, indicating that he is the sixth generation from Edward, the ninth child in his family, and the son of #296 in the Genealogy.

Unclassified Frisbies are identified by a 5-digit number commencing with 12000 and running into 14000. Later Comers are identified by a 5-digit number commencing with 30000.

Abbreviations used throughout the study are those in general use in genealogical studies; a detailed list of them appears on page iv.

Additions and corrections to this study will be welcomed.

 "Kentucky Pioneer & Court Records", comp. Mrs. Harry Kennet McAdams, Lexington, Ky., 1929, notes the marriage at Church of the Advent, Cynthiana, Ky., 6-7-1899, of Elizabeth Addams, dau. William and Cora Virginia (Cook) Addams, b. 11-3-1875, to Harry Davenport Frisbie, b. 1-15-1872.

 The information was taken from a family Bible owned by Cora Virginia (Cook) Adams, later by Mrs. Ann E. Callahan, and after her death by Mrs. William Y. Frisbie of Manila, P.I. Mrs. William Y. Frisbie is probably identical with Mary Adams, second wife of William Gildersleeve Frisbie. The Harry Davenport Frisbie of the marriage record can not be connected with the main Frisbie line and is carried as #13075 in the Unclassified book.

14521 Jonathan Frisby

Although the identification is not proved, he was probably identical with the following Jonathan Frisbys found scattered through the Unclassified records:

A Jonathan Frisby served in a Wyoming Valley militia company in 1780. Serving at the same time were a Frederic Eveland and a Jonathan Corey or Carey.

Appears in the 1790 census of Luzerne Co., Pa. (which included Wyoming Valley) with a household of 1-2-1

Appears in the annals of Bradford Co. (which was erected from Luzerne in 1812)

Emigrated to Morgan Co., Ohio, probably in mid-1810's, and is listed in 1820 census of Bloom Twp.

d. Morgan Co., Ohio, post Sept. 1820, when his will was written m. Sarah -----, who was probably a second wife

Had a large family, only three of whom have been identified.

Inter al: 14522 James E. or F. Frisby, b. Pennsylvania ca. 1786

14522 James E. ~~or F.~~ Frisby

 14536 Jonathan, b. Illinois post 1860

One informant includes with this family a child Russel who died single, and suggests that he was identical with James R. #14533. However, he was more likely identical with James #14528, son of James E. 14522, or perhaps with Russell #30189, son Of James Frisby #30178 who emigrated from Morgan Co. Ohio to Bloomington, Ill., and was living there in 1855.

James #14525 appears in the 1850 census of McLean Co. He is listed in the 1860 census of DeWitt Co., his household including John Hayes, age 22, a laborer. In 1870 he appears in the census of DeWitt Co., his household including Nancy Shaffer, age 40, a servant, who was presumably a sister of his wife.

George and his son Thomas came to this country in 1840 from Kilkenny County, Ireland, Thomas being then 7 years old. They came via the Atlantic Ocean to New York, thence to Buffalo and Waukegan, Ill., by boat, and from there by land to McHenry.

George had two brothers -- Bernard, called Brian, and Thomas. Thomas apparently never came to this country, but Brian is probably identical with the Bernard Brian #30315 who, according to his descendants, emigrated to the United States in 1848 and settled in McHenry.
